A Summer Poem
By: Karina Kuś and Karolina Budzeń

In summer, I see
A slippery snail
Hot sun
Green trees
Wet puddles and a
Brown Bench
In summer, I hear
Noisy screams
Birds singing
Children laughing
Nature makes us feel happy!

I am
By: Joanna Szczepańska

I am a sad imaginer.
I wonder why I am who I am.
I hear the music of my heart.
I see people who live in peace.
I want to touch the sky.
I am a sad imaginer.
I pretend that all is right.
I feel it’s not true.
I touch something in the fog.
I worry that it’s not good.
I cry because it’s something bad that makes people sad.
I am a sad imaginer.
I understand that the grass is green.

I say that the sky is blue.
I dream about a better world.
I try to be a better person.
I hope that in my dreams that some day the sun will shine.
I am a sad imaginer.

Hamilton: the Best in the Rain
By: Ola Szepelak and Magda Błazewicz

Lewis Hamilton from McLaren won the Grand Prix of Great Britain. It was the seventh victory of his career. Now Hamilton is the leader of the World Classification. Only the first part of the race took place in bad weather, by the 20th lap it stopped raining. This was a good sign for Robert Kubice. Heikki Kovalainen was in first for the beginning few laps, but later Hamilton surprisingly sold out Kovalainen. Kovalainen thought it was a strategy of the McLaren team, but it actually gave Hamilton an advantage. Unfortunately Heikki skidded and fell into the third place position. Robert Kubice was very good, He was in fourth place for most of the race. Car problems had the reigning Champion Kimmi Raikomen in the Pit Lane. Robert Kubice made one mistake and finished the race on the 43rd lap. Second place went to Relbers Borrichello.
